Material Design color palette

In Material Design, a Primary Color refers to a color that appears most frequently in your app. A Secondary Color refers to a color used to accent key parts of your UI (formerly called Accent color).

Using colors from the Material Design palette is optional.

The Color Tool helps you create, share, and apply color palettes to your UI, as well as measure the accessibility level of any color combination: https://material.io/color/
